

As we enter the last two months of 2025, I can't help but feel a sense of gratitude for all that God is doing through the ministry of Bringing Children Hope. Not only are children and families receiving all that they need physically, they are being taught the word of God and are experiencing how the Gospel can change their lives forever. Here are some thanksgiving stories that I hope encourage you.

- Children in the GEM Home, Myanmar are reading through the Bible. Bawi – age 13 - is now reading the entire Bible for a second time and it has changed his life. He is now proudly singing in church, reciting verses from memory, and is growing spiritually every day.
- Nu San – age 11 - from the Agape Home in Myanmar prays to God two times a day and faithfully reads the Bible every day. She has grown in her faith tremendously and desires to become a Sunday school teacher.
- Children in our Northeast India home are thankful that supporters care deeply about providing for their needs, even though the home is in the volatile and desolate part of India.
- In Liberia, the school building is just about to enter the final phase of construction. The current students are meeting next door at the church where enrollment has increased greatly in anticipation of the new building to be ready in early 2026. There are so many smiling faces as they eagerly wait.
- Right here in the USA, we have been caring for a young boy for the past several months. Recently, the mother and son had an opportunity to see each other face to face. The moment that they were able to embrace was truly remarkable. We see the hand of God in Mom's life and know that her journey is still being written. We are thankful for the Care Family who can love and support this child while mom has time to heal.

Thank you for your support that helps make these stories possible.
