

This Year's VBS Giving Project: Help Build a School in Gbonota, Liberia!

Dear Parents,

Imagine sending your children to school in a building made of mud and sticks—with no desks, few supplies, and crumbling walls. Or imagine a school was only available to your child one day a week. That's the reality for children in the village of Gbonota, Liberia. But this summer, your child can help make a change!

When giving to our 2025 VBS offering project, Hope Builders: Bricks of Love, your special offering will go toward building a safe, strong, and lasting school. Your children can help build a place where kids in Liberia can learn and grow in a space filled with hope and God's love.

The parents of Gbonota know exactly what this school means for their children—hope, opportunities, and a brighter future! Parents are overjoyed knowing their kids will have access to an education and to technology. But that's not all. In the evenings, the school will also offer vocational training for teens and adults, equipping the entire community with valuable education and vocational skills.

Right now, in the village of Gbonota, families are hauling buckets of sand by hand to help form the foundation of their new school. They are dedicated to building their new school. Together, we can help them finish the work!

Giving teaches our children that they are never too young to be world-changers.

Together, we can build something that lasts—brick by brick, blessing by blessing.

Learn how your support is changing lives and how you can join with Bringing Children Hope to reach the $110,000 goal needed to build the school in Gbonota. Every gift brings us one brick closer! Scan the QR code or visit BringingChildrenHope.org/vbs-2025 for more information.

Z. Clemens, A Gbonota Village 5th Grader, in Her Own Words:

"From the beginning of the school years, we are experiencing unsafe school building, poor sanitations, and teachers are not paid on time because many parents are not able to afford school fees and even buy school materials for us because of no money. Even many of us go to bed hungry, because no food.

With all these circumstances, our teachers, parents and community members are standing their ground for everything to be possible.. Furthermore, we are grateful to BCH for looking in our interest that we are able to boast in something, As the Bible says in Isaiah 43:18, forget the past, for I am doing new things. As today being marked as a groundbreaking, we hope and pray that BCH mission in Gbonota will be accomplished so that we can have quality education for the community to improved from poverty to prosperity!"

The children understand that a strong, safe school building isn't just about walls and a roof—it's about opportunity, education, and a brighter future for their entire community.

Will you be part of this incredible transformation? Your gift helps lay the foundation for lasting change—brick by brick, child by child, dream by dream.
